

PHUONG

I still remember when we began the early intervention program. At that time, Phuong can only remember and repeat two words. The teachers read her a poem “Dad is a Tree, Mom is a Leaf”. At that time, my child can only say, “dad tree” and “mom leaf” and I think this is very difficult for her.

Over time, we practiced her listening and then speaking. The Global Foundation For Children With Hearing Loss and the teachers taught me to talk all the time to Phuong everywhere to expand her vocabulary.

Some time later, she can repeat the whole poem that once gave her difficulty. And now she is starting to learn and speak other poems and songs too. I’m so happy when I hear her shy, little words. This is something I will never forget, ever. Truly thank you so much!
